

Millennius – Energy Medicine for the New Millennium

Resonant Energy Medicine is a reemerging field in the Complementary and Alternative Medicine (CAM) related healthcare field and is gaining recognition for its safety and effectiveness in addressing multiple conditions, including those considered intractable (untreatable). Vibrational resonant frequencies have been used throughout history for comfort and healing. Electricity has been added to these ancient forms of healing since the discoveries of the Italian anatomist Galvani more than 200 years ago.

Resonant Energy and frequency based therapies were introduced by Nikola Tesla in the 1880s. They quickly became a standard in medical treatment in the United States until the early part of the 1940's. Energy Medicine continued to be used in many other parts of the world and is still a standard of treatment outside the US. The invention of solid-state semiconductors ushered in the birth of bioelectronics starting in 1960 with the implantable cardiac pacemaker. This has created a paradigm shift within both the medical and health sciences fields summarized best by Dr. Robert O. Becker, one of the premier physicians and authors studying energy medicine in the past century. In 2004 he wrote: "We are now in the process of revising the past century's biochemical concept, under which all major life processes are chemical in nature, to one that proposes that such processes are electromagnetic in nature." Stephen Hawking noted in A Brief History of Time, "the universal force of electromagnetism controls all biological response". NuTesla is continuing the resonant energy medicine work of Nikola Tesla and other pioneers in this field.

NuTesla is a US corporation founded on the principles of further bioelectronics and Energy Medicine as standards of medical practice. NuTesla is the developer and manufacturer of Resonant Energy Medicine instruments known as Millennius, which received its first US Patent in December of 2014. Millennius is to pharmaceuticals as Einstein's theory of relativity is to Newtonian physics; a completely new way of viewing the body as a system of complex and interrelated frequency based informational energies. Rising healthcare costs, increasing iatrogenic (medical mistake) deaths and concerns over the safety of pharmaceuticals, coupled with increased access to online medical information and an aging population with access to CAM healthcare options is encouraging individuals to take control of his or her health and wellbeing in unprecedented numbers. NuTesla is poised to leverage this transition with scientifically provable and patented products. The Professional Millennius shown here is intended for use by healthcare professionals. A consumer version is also available for Over-The-Counter (OTC) use without a prescription.

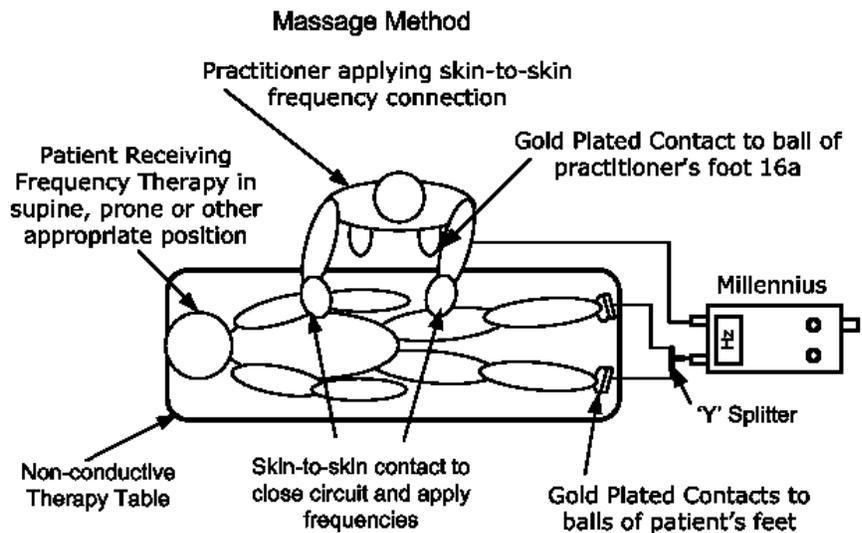

How is Millennium Used?

The Millennium instrument has two frequency transponder contacts which are placed on various areas of the body to stimulate the flow of the informational energies present within us. The brain sends electrical impulses to control our muscles and nerve endings send electrical signals back to the brain in response to sensory stimulus. When an injury occurs the brain attempts to repair the damage. If it is unsuccessful the brain stops expending energy on the repair and stops responding to signals from the injury. This is similar for any disease and even emotional injuries. Our brain will attempt to repair the damage, but after a while returns to maintaining the health and growth of the rest of the body. Millennium's NuTherapy awakens the brain to restart the body's own healing process. Unlike traditional Electrical Stimulus devices (E-Stim) that simply pulse on and off, Millennium uses a broad spectrum of naturally healthy frequencies to clear informational pathways and restart the healing process.

What is a typical Millennium NuTherapy session?

Each Millennium NuTherapy session is unique. There are three basic methods to apply frequency stimulation to the body. First is the Guided mode where the frequency contacts are usually placed on the balls of your feet while reclining or lying on your back. The practitioner then guides you through each frequency and its purpose. Next there is the Assisted mode where the frequency contacts are placed on two areas of the body and the practitioner, usually a bodyworker, then massages the affected area assisted by the frequency stimulation of Millennium. In the Therapist mode shown here frequency contacts are placed on your feet and another is placed on the therapist's foot and the frequency energy is delivered to your body wherever the therapist touches you. In all modes the level of the energy is adjusted to be comfortable, yet effective.

James D. Honeycutt, PhD invented Millennium using his background in homeopathy, electrical engineering, computer science and bio-technology. Millennium blends naturally derived frequencies with electromagnetic energies to deliver Bio-Pulse Feedback in an Ultradian format of Rife and other healthy resonant frequencies using patented scalar waves. Millennium is the latest NuTesla Instrument delivering Bio-Pulses using micro-currents through direct contact with the skin. Its precise frequencies stimulate the body opening energy pathways and discarding harmful informational patterns, thus allowing new healthy processes to restart your own natural healing.
